

A Thankful Thangsgiving

In 1631, a few settlers in a bleak new world held our first Thanksgiving, which was for the arrival of a ship's load of provisions from Europe—

This year one hundred million people will unite in thanksgiving for peace with victory, and that our boys will soon be home again.

The celebrations of the day naturally center around the dining room. We have a large and varied stock of Dining Room Furniture. You may need just one new piece for this special occasion. May we have the pleasure of showing you?

TALK OF THE TOWN

Dance, Howland hall, Saturday evening; gents 75c, ladies 10c—adv.

The Over the Teacups club will meet with Mrs. Donald Smith Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Diana Pierce of Hardwick has been making a visit of several days with relatives in this city.

C. Croci has moved his family to this city from Hardwick and expects to be employed in the granite industry.

Congressman Frank L. Greene, who was the speaker at a Board of Trade luncheon at Hotel Barre last evening, returned this morning to his home in St. Albans.

James R. Coutts of Academy street, who recently received an appointment as deputy inspector of weights and measures, returned yesterday from a business trip to Island Pond.

Perfection of heaters and wicks. Andes ranges and heaters, three second-hand Glenwood ranges for wood or coal, stove-pipe and elbows and stove-boards. Call at E. A. Frindle's, Worthen block.

Sup. of Cemeteries Alex Hanton will be at the city hall Monday afternoon, Saturday this month from 7 to 8 p. m. to receive dues for care of lots at Hope and Elmwood cemeteries; also for lots cared for by Messrs. Barnes and LaPoint.

Henry Welch has returned to his home in East Montpelier, after having been called here to assist in settling some of the affairs of his brother, the late David Welch. Mr. Welch has been appointed administrator of his brother's estate.

Because so many exhibitors of other years have disposed of their blooded fowls, the directors of the Vermont Poultry association have practically abandoned plans for a show this year. Originally it was planned to stage the exhibit in the last days of December, but so many elements combined to make it impracticable that the association will not attempt to exhibit any birds until next year. It is expected that a Montpelier association of poultry breeders will conduct a show at the capital early in January.

With Prof. Peter Landi as the director, a new orchestra, consisting of Barre and Montpelier talent and musicians from a distance, has been organized in this city. It is to be known as Landi's orchestra, and the personnel is as follows: Frank Lamore of Lowell, Mass., a former member of St. George's orchestra; trombone; Karl Forsell of Montpelier, trumpet; Peter Landi, violinist; Miss Duba, pianist; Augustus M. Rossi, clarinet; Messrs. Lamore and Harris arrived in the city to-day and intend to make their home here during the winter. Minus the drummer and trombone player, the orchestra made its debut at the Board of Trade luncheon last evening and made an excellent impression.

Service with the American navy, which has been co-operating with the British grand fleet in the North sea, has meant much to some of the Barre boys who enlisted as seamen at the outbreak of the war. For the first time in their lives some of them whose forebears came from the vicinities of Aberdeen and Peterhead have been enabled to visit Scotland while enjoying furloughs ashore. The case of a nephew of Alexander Coutts of this city is typical. Not long ago the cruiser to which he is attached put in at a British harbor, and the sailor, with a week's shore leave ahead of him, journeyed up the coast to the place where his grandmother and other relatives whom he never had seen are residing. Seaman Coutts, in a letter to his uncle, says he lingered for nearly a week in Scotland, enjoying thoroughly his first opportunity to visit the familiar scenes of his father's boyhood.

Charles Zanleoni, Jr., first class pharmacist's mate at the naval training station in Newport, R. I., arrived in the city last evening to pass a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zanleoni, of North Main street. Zanleoni met two wounded soldiers, en route from Newport News, Va., where they had been in an army hospital since landing on Labor day, to Portland, Me., in which vicinity their homes are located. Each of the three men in the service made himself known, and when Mr. Zanleoni mentioned the fact of his residence in Barre, it came out that the soldiers were comrades of Messrs. Sergeant Albert Marr, formerly of this city, in the battle of Chateau Thierry. All three were in the same company in the 103d infantry. All three were wounded and according to the report of the returned soldiers, Sergeant Marr, when they took leave of him, was in a base hospital, recovering.

Barre postmen and their co-workers in the rural delivery service now have to their credit war stamp sales aggregating more than $60,000, according to current returns posted on the bulletin in the work room at the postoffice yesterday. They are still a long way from their goal, but with the help of the people who pledged investments in this attractive government security during the drive last summer they hope to go over the top by Jan. 1. If the pledges are to be redeemed, there will have to be some hustling in the next month, but the carriers are ready to do their share of it if the public will respond. After New Year's, it is expected there will be a new issue of war stamps. Total sales of $60,711.90 are divided among the mail men as follows: Postmen, W. D. MacDonald, $14,622.27; Thomas Garrity, $9,125.07; William Craig, $7,662.26; D. S. Waterman, $6,130.69; C. L. Converse, $3,949.23; E. M. Lewis, $2,930.88; G. W. Gates, $2,587.65; H. B. Houghton, $2,140.42; rural carriers, Charles Gray, $5,778.17; James Johnston, $2,061.87; G. Carr, $1,825.74; A. W. Robinson, $904.55.

For self-confessed thefts of sums of money amounting to nearly $50, William A. Kelly of Prospect street yesterday afternoon was sentenced to pass the remainder of his minority in the state industrial school at Vergennes. Under the juvenile act, the boy's mother was summoned before Judge H. W. Scott at city hall soon after her son was detected in the act of rifling the cash register in the pool room of Joseph Movalli at 323 North Main street. The proprietor of the establishment had been missing money from the register for several days, but suspicion did not settle on Kelly, who was employed there as a bootblack, until a passerby, in the noon hour after Movalli had locked the door, glanced through the front window and saw the youngster going through the cash drawers. He notified the police and later Kelly was taken in custody on Granite street. In court he told the authorities that he had gained entrance to the pool room by forcing a small window in the rear. He directed the police to a place in the barn at his home where he had hidden money along with chocolates, cartridges and cigarettes, which he had purchased. Tony Corey of the firm of Corey & Halsey identified a suit of clothes which Kelly paid for with a part of the stolen money.

RED + NOTES

The women turned out splendidly yesterday afternoon at the work room, just as was expected, and a large amount of work was accomplished. If such a good attendance is continued, the quota of the Barre branch will be accomplished in fine shape and record time. There is so much to be finished between now and Dec. 1 that the work room will be open every afternoon next week, except Thursday, unless the work should be completed before the end of the week, when notice will be given in The Times to that effect.

What do you think is the next call for knitted articles from the Barre branch? Eight hundred pairs of socks. Won't the needles fly when that work begins? The yarn has not arrived in Barre yet, but the knitters will be notified through this paper when it arrives, and then everybody will have a chance to knit to their heart's content. The quota is to be completed before Feb. 1, so a number will have to keep busy to get it out on time.

Beginning next Monday, all over the United States there is to be a "linen shower" for the benefit of the Red Cross, a cablegram from the commissioner in France announcing that there is urgent need in the hospitals there of 1,250,000 bath towels, 2,500,000 hand towels, 1,750,000 handkerchiefs, 125,000 napkins and 650,000 sheets. Barre's quota of this "shower" is 60 sheets, 100 bath towels, 175 hand towels, 150 handkerchiefs and 15 napkins, upon which the women are already at work.

The officers for the Barre branch are: President, Mrs. N. D. Phelps; vice-president, Mrs. L. D. Martin; corresponding secretary, Miss Evelyn Drew; recording secretary, Mrs. Guy Varnum; treasurer, Mrs. George Bond; auditor, Miss Alice Pope; publicity director, Miss Elsie F. Newton. As heretofore, Mrs. F. W. Robinson is in charge of sewing and Mrs. N. Parker of the knitting, while Miss Evelyn Phelps continues as chairman of the home service department.

To make the work of these chairmen as easy as possible, it is requested that all matters pertaining to the work of a certain department be referred to the chairman of that particular department and not to others.

In the case of the home service department, Miss Phelps' office hours are Tuesday and Saturday evenings, from 7 to 9, in a room in the Jackson block on North Main street. It would be of great assistance to her if those seeking information in regard to war risk insurance, allotments, allowances, etc., would consult her on those evenings.

The Washington county branch of the Red Cross held a meeting in Montpelier this week, when practically all the former officers were elected. Dr. W. W. Brock of Montpelier continues as president. There was a good attendance of representatives of the local branches throughout the county and Judge E. M. Harvey spoke impressively of the home service work and the special need that would exist when the boys came home.

steward, Fred Eldridge; assistant steward, Clara Eldridge; steward, Robert Smith; Ceres, Lou Goodrich; Flora, Elsie McPherson; Pomona, Jennie Perkins; janitor, H. F. Kittredge.

Pomona grange will be held here on Dec. 7. Election of officers and a dinner. It is earnestly hoped there will be a good attendance.

Mrs. Lucy Domesy has returned from Walden. "Pat" Murphy is chopping for B. C. Jennings. Van Magoon is working for J. E. Hancock.

Welcome Rebekah lodge will hold its regular meeting Thursday evening at 7:30, after which there will be a Thanksgiving social for all Rebekah members and their families.
